

June 13, 2011

To Whom It May Concern:

Please accept this letter of recommendation on behalf of Chad Murphy-Price as an inspirational and motivational speaker. I recently contracted with Chad to provide the opening keynote address for the Florida Federation of the Division on Career Development and Transition's annual statewide conference, Visions XVIII. Our Board had requested that Chad describe the challenges his disabilities presented throughout his education, as well as the means he used to overcome these challenges. Specifically, we asked Chad to describe his transition into adulthood and the milieu of postsecondary education.

I would like to share that I was extremely pleased with the content of Chad's presentation and his delivery style. Conference participants were also very complimentary of his keynote address, as reflected by personal comments and our conference evaluation forms. Chad interjected appropriate humor as he described his early life with a physical disability and the many challenges it posed as he included himself in daily activities with family and friends. He provided a PowerPoint presentation to accompany his address, which included relevant photos and points he wished to emphasize. He was very organized in his presentation and thoughts.

Both Chad's message and his demeanor reflect a very positive young man who has learned to overcome his challenges in life and celebrate his successes. His message is one of perseverance and love of life. Although our audience was largely made up of adults within the educational profession, Chad's message would be well received by children, youth, and other professionals as well. It is a delight for me to recommend Chad as a speaker without hesitation. If you have any questions, or if I can be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Jordan T. Knab". The signature is fluid and cursive.

Jordan T Knab, Ed.S.
Principal Investigator and Director